Eiichiro Oda began his manga career at the age of 17, when his one-shot cowboy manga Wanted! won second place in the coveted Tezuka manga awards. Oda went on to work as an assistant to some of the biggest manga artists in the industry, including Nobuhiro Watsuki, before winning the Hop Step Award for new artists. His pirate adventure One Piece, which debuted in Weekly Shonen Jump in 1997, quickly became one of the most popular manga in Japan.

 Hey!! The SBS started without me!! ⚡
 Damn, I got tricked! Still, I'm glad!! At least there were no...poor ol' grandmas in trouble...

Q: In Japanese, "ni-ko" means "two objects." Is Nico Robin called Nico because she has two big boobs?

--Hiromu

A: No.

Q: It's nice to meet you. If you don't mind, could you tell me the secret to drawing the hourglass figures of the women in One Piece?! (Especially the boobs) Thank you! ♥

--If There Is No Bread, Let Them Eat Roses

A: Yes. Hello. This is the special SBS drawing lesson. Just think of the female figure as three circles and one X. And now, goodbye. (If this is the only figure you draw, your female readers will send you many criticisms. Try to remain strong and dedicated.)

Q: On page 39 of volume 74, there's a scene where Doflamingo's followers go quiet in the elevator. When I was a boy, my parents taught me to be silent in the elevator. Are they following the same lesson?

--Hiromu

A: Mmm, yes, they got quiet. What's up with that humorous pause, huh? If someone farted, that would pretty much be the perfect accident.

Q: The best cook on the Straw Hat Crew is obviously Sanji, but who else is good at cooking? What is everyone's specialty?

--I Made the Mantis Chicken

A: Here's the dish each member is good at making.

Raw meat on a plate

Sashimi

Roast duck in tangerine sauce

Fish and chips

Mixed juice

Stew, paella

Barbecue

Churrasco

Sanji is most experienced with seafood, but he can cook pretty much anything. Due to their upbringing, the only decent cooks are Nami, Usopp and Robin. The others can't do much more than cut, burn, and mix. Even to her own crewmates, Nami charges for her food.

Q: Odacchi!! Here's an idea: what would the three Don Quixote supreme officers, Trebol, Diamante and Pica, look like if they got hit by Sanji's Parage Shot?!

--Softball Fool (1)

A: Here.

Q: Is it just me, or do the Devil Fruit Powers of the officers on Doflamingo's side all have powered-up versions of the Baroque Works officers?

Ton-Ton -> Kilo-Kilo, Stick-Stick -> Wax-Wax, Arms-Arms -> Dice-Dice, Pop-Pop -> Boom-Boom

--Taoka S43

A: There are indeed higher-powered versions of others, but at present it's only these four.

There are some other fruit which might seem to be related, but in those cases, the rules that determine their powers work in slightly different ways. Also, the strength of powers does not correlate to character strength. You never know how every fight will turn out.

Q: Odacchi!! Hello, ha-ha. About Dr. Hiriluk's birthday, the word "doctor" in Japanese can be turned into the numbers 1, 4 and 8, so how about January 12th?

--Ha-P Haruka

A: Hiriluk? Now?! If you think you can just decide it that easily...you're right!!

(H)ey (E)veryone (L)isten (F)or a (S)econd!

It's HELFS time!!

You know how everyone comes up with the Birthdays on their own? That's totally fine, since to be honest, I don't care ABOUT the characters' Birthdays. (There, I said it.) Anyway, I sat down with my editor and looked up all the Birthdays we've got so far. The "Birthday calendar" is in the back of this book. Check it out! You'll find that...lots of them overlap!!  Meanwhile, I've gotten plenty of letters saying, "I don't share my Birthday with any characters."

So what that means is, let's fill the calendar!!

Let's make it so that everyone can say they share a Birthday with someone in One Piece. And let me be clear.

I'm not going to double-check!! You all have to fill in the blanks using whatever twisted logic you can come up with. I will probably approve everything, just as I have so far.

Because I really don't care!!

The calendar is current as of October 2015, so it will get more crowded with each successive volume. You can write in the characters yourself, and we'll be putting a Birthday calendar up on One-Piece.com that will be updated regularly, so if you want to come up with a character's Birthday, check out which dates are empty there before you send them in. Thanks!

(Yumesan, Kyoto)

Q: Hello, Oda Sensei. Recently, I found out that the type of flower you are meant to give to show gratitude to your father on Father's Day is the sunflower. I didn't know that. And Kyros fought Diamante right in front of Rebecca at the sunflower field. So it wouldn't have worked at a cosmos field or tulip field. Right? Right?

--Three Chestnuts

A: Oooh. I didn't know this either. (laughs) It's carnations on Mother's Day, so Dad gets sunflowers! Why so huge?! (laughs) I've actually heard that other flowers are sent on that holiday, so I suppose there must be a number of different explanations. I like hearing that the "sunflowers" and "father" are linked, though.

Q: Hey, Oda! I found something really creative and cheeky! On the eighteenth page of Chapter 743, there's a scene where Sabo's attack sinks the ring within the coliseum... In Japanese, the sound effect reads "go-go-go" (ゴゴゴ) and then on the back of the gorilla's hand is a tiny "rira" (リラ). So the combination of the two reads gorira--"gorilla"! What a funky monkey!

--Kamiki

A: I'm actually kind of amazed you found that. I totally forgot about it. (laughs)

Q: I'm happy that Kyoros beat Daimante.

A: Yeah, I know! Wasn't that great?! I wish he hit his head on Scarlet's grave ten more times! Thanks for the letter, Taichi Nakajima!!

IF IT WEREN'T FOR THE STRAW HAT CREW...

Q: Oda Sensei! Hello! I feel like Luffy's Gear Four pose is very similar to the Nio statues that stand outside Buddhist temples. Is there a deeper meaning to this very cool pose? I am thinking of using it the next time we have a marital spat.

--Sanadacchi

A: So this letter is from a husband. Personally, if you have a fight with your wife, I recommend Fujitora's "Bowing on hands and knees" pose. (laughs) You are correct that I used the Nio statue pose!

I came up with a number of different power-ups based on various cultures around the world, but I decided to go with something that displayed the strength of ancient Japan. I really want to see Gear Four in the anime and figures.

Q: Guess what I found, Oda Sensei. There are people in Chapter 785 wearing shirts with messages from the dialogue written on them. Does this mean that Doflamingo was importing the latest fashion straight from Fish-Man Island?

--The Self-Sacrificing Swordsman

A: Spotted again. It's the return of the "narrative description" shirts. Yes, the ultra-chic NDS Brand has made its way from Fish-Man Island to Dressrosa. I'm sure there are more out there. Look for them yourself! My personal favorite is the "ATAMANOTOGATTAKO" (Kid With the Pointy Head) series.

Q: Oda Sensei... N-nice to...ugh! Flop! As a matter of fact...I've fallen ill with a terrible case of Loving-Cora-Itis. So can you tell me Cora's height and his favorite and least favorite foods? I'm so obsessed, I can't find a boyfriend.

--Maiden in Love

A: That sounds awful. I'll write you a prescription. Take the following medications: "Nine-foot-seven," "Likes: lettuce, cabbage, pickled plums," "Dislikes: Bread, pizza." Please take care.

Q: Hiya, Odacchi!! Wait, so the kid wearing the "bear" shirt in Chapter 785 of Volume 78 was wearing that bear?!!

--Bartholomew Kuma, Age 12

A: Yes. Well, I suppose I should explain this. (laughs) In Chapter 785 of the previous volume, there's a mother looking for her child amid the chaos. He's wearing a "Bear shirt," she says. At the end of the chapter, Fujitora helps mother and son find each other, and if you look closely at his shirt...

You will see that it was all a bit of a joke since "kuma" means "bear" in Japanese. So let's all end the SBS by letting this mother and son hear it. Ready, set...

You mean that "Bear"?!!  See you again next volume!! There's some more stuff at the end, so check it out.

Chapter 795:

SUICIDE

REQUEST: "NAMI GIVING AN UGLY GORILLA A MAKEOVER"
BY SAYAMAKKO T.K. FROM SAITAMA

I WISH I COULD THANK HIM!

NO, NOBODY HAS!!

HAS ANYONE SEEN LUCY SINCE EVERYTHING HAPPENED?
